Walk for Green and Clean Environment

Walkathon

Walkathon is an annual feature organised by DHAN Foundation on a specific theme. This is a public event, engaging the citizens for a common cause, organised across the country, where DHAN has its presence. Walkathon is not just an event organised for creating awareness, rather it calls for concerted action on the issues during and after the event. Initiated as Madurai Marathon in 2007, a Run for Water to involving the youth in large numbers subsequently took a shape of Walkathon in 2013, broad basing the event to include people from all walks of life irrespective of age. Since inception, the themes of the event were as followed:

2007 & 2008 – Run for Water and Conserving Heritage Water Bodies

2009 & 2010 – Run to be Free from Anemia

2011 & 2012 – Run for Climate Change Adaptation

Walkathon is a pan-India event organised on a particular day with a lot of programmes before and after the Walk. Drawing and poster making, slogan writing and essay writing competitions would be organised for the students from schools and colleges on the theme. The winners would be awarded at the Walkathon event. Exhibitions and seminars would be organised after the Walkathon event to deliberate on the theme and get into action after the event.

Walkathon 2016 focusing on Green and Clean Environment

Coinciding with the Swachh Bharat Mission launched by the Government of India, DHAN has taken “Green and Clean” as a theme of the Walkathon, which is organised on February 13, 2016 across the country. Greening and Cleaning are the twin big challenges faced by the villages and cities in India today. With the rapid pace of urbanisation, the urban population is stressed with a lot of environmental challenges like pollution of water, air and land, and resultant hazards to public health. Indiscriminate damage caused to green cover and water resources have made the urban living miserable, leading to outbreak of diseases and economic stress as a fall out. The Walkathon is an effort to initiate public debate and engagement into meaningful action around these issues. The major focus of the Walkathon is instilling a sense of cleanliness and concept of greening in the minds of everyone not only to keep their dwelling places clean and green, but also playing their role voluntarily in keeping the public utilities and common properties clean and green. Thematic areas for action around the theme of Green and Clean are:

- Conserving and Developing Waterbodies
- Planting and maintaining trees
- Promoting Sanitation and Hygiene
- Promoting Clean and Green Foods
- Nutrition Gardens in the Farm and Home

Space for Partnership

Walkathon is a platform, which throws opportunity for bringing together relevant, competent and likeminded organisations from the public, private and non-government spheres. National agencies like National Rural Health Mission and National Bio-Diversity Authority, several nationalised and private commercial banks and insurance agencies, state departments of agriculture, health and environment took active role in the past events.
